ABOUT ME

As an economics student with a solid foundation in economic theory and quantitative analysis, I bring a detail-oriented and analytical approach to understanding complex economic phenomena. My academic training has equipped me with strong skills in data interpretation, statistical methods, and economic modeling. I am proficient with key economic analysis software and committed to applying rigorous methodology to derive meaningful insights. My ability to communicate economic concepts clearly, combined with my passion for evidence-based decision-making, positions me to contribute effectively in research, policy analysis, or business intelligence roles. I am eager to leverage my growing expertise in economics to address real-world challenges and create value for organizations through sound economic reasoning.
